

Quality Claims Management Posts New Online Earthquake Insurance Section

Everything that San Diego County Residents Need to Know about Earthquake Danger and Earthquake Insurance

April 6, San Diego, CA – Quality Claims Management Corporation, San Diego's leading Public Insurance Adjusting company, posted a comprehensive three part series on Earthquakes and Earthquake Insurance on their web site at <http://www.qualityclaims.com/articles/EarthquakeInsurance.pdf>.

Part one of the online series covers "How much danger is your home in? Where do you live?"

The second part is all about "What do San Diego County residents have to know about Earthquake Insurance Policies, Risks and Costs?" Should you buy earthquake insurance and how much does it cost.

The final section covers "What should you do after a quake? Who do you call, where do you go, and what do you do once you start talking to your insurance company?"

"We view earthquake insurance policies as insurance against a major catastrophe," explained Ronald Reitz, President of Quality Claims Management. "For most San Diego residents, their existing homeowners insurance policies will cover fire and water damage that often occurs as a consequence of earthquake activity. However, if you live in a danger zone such as the Rose Canyon area and have lots of equity in your home, you may want to consider investing in earthquake insurance."

Mr. Reitz is a Certified Professional Public Adjuster (CPPA) with over sixteen years experience. In addition, Mr. Reitz is a Past President of the California Association of Public Insurance Adjusters (CAPIA) and is currently an officer on the Board of Directors of the National Association of Public Insurance Adjusters (NAPIA) www.napia.com. (He will be president in 2012). Recognized as a leading expert on hazard claims, Mr. Reitz serves on many industry panels, as well as providing consulting and training services industry-wide.
